1965

Steve,

How could I ever forget all the wonderful times we've had together? The Prom, (the picnic), and all those trips up to McDonalds are only a part of all the fun we've had together. You're really perfect. Steve and I wouldn't trade you off for anybody or anything else in the world. I never had any more fun with anybody I was ever out with (not even Cliff). Your personality, your understanding, your patience and your coordination(?) are only a few of your many assets. I love you most of all, honey, for putting up with all the times I've been sick and all my punkiness. By the way, I'm afraid this isn't going to be as mushy as you like it, but I just can't express my deep love for you adequately enough in words. You're really sweet, and considerate, and I hope you come back to me after you get out of college. I know I'll come back to you no matter what. He's hoping for the best of luck to my "favorite boyfriend". I know you'll be a whopping success with all your perseverance and potential. Don't forget our skin-diving date. I'll love you always and our love has no bounds. I would really be heart-broken if I ever lost you.

Love & kisses;

Melody

The Class of 1965
Presents . . .

Foreword

We, the Class of 1965, have prepared this year's Mirror so that we will always have a lasting remembrance of our high school days at Ilion High.

The 1965 Mirror does not have a definite theme. Since we really would like to remember Ilion High as it is today, we have placed the emphasis of this year's Mirror on the casualness of youth. We have featured several candid photos of students at work and at play. Also, we have tried to make the layout as casual as possible, so our yearbook will be much more enjoyable for you, the reader.

We Dedicate

We, Seniors of the class of 1965, respectfully and lovingly dedicate this year-book to you, Mrs. Bean, in appreciation of your thirty-three years of distinguished service to our Ilion High School. Your warm smile and sincere friendliness will remain with us for a long, long time.

We will never forget your willingness to help us with our problems. Neither will we forget your patience as you explained that all right triangles are not the same. You taught mathematics in an outstanding manner. At the same time you showed a deep and encouraging interest in us. Your high standards and personal qualities set a fine example for us all to follow.

This dedication can only, in a very small way, say "thank you" for your whole-hearted devotion to the teaching profession. You have been a real inspiration.

We Dedicate

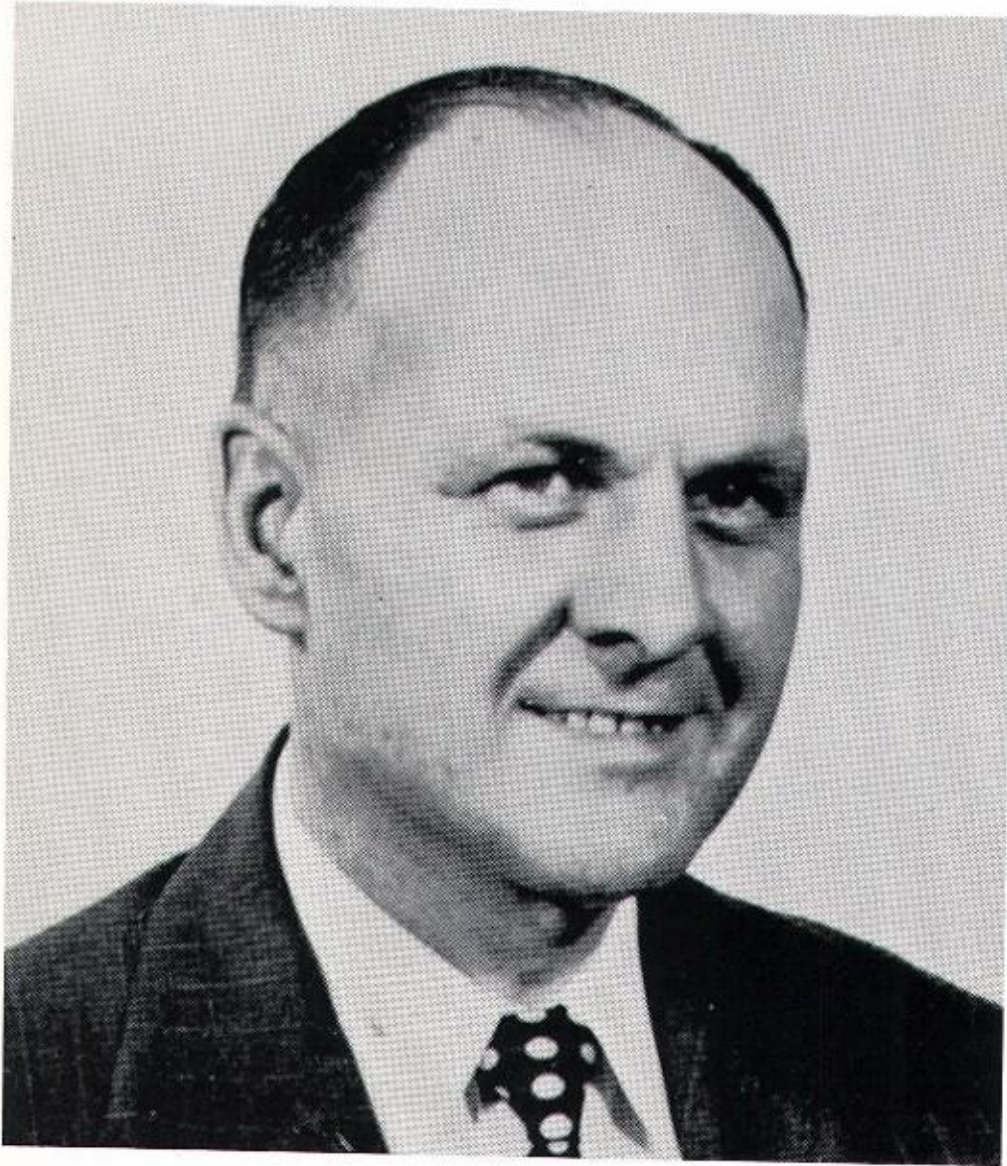

We, the Senior Class, dedicate this issue of the Mirror to you, Mr. Purple, in gratitude for your untiring efforts and concern for the youth of the community. Your participation in our assemblies and enthusiastic support at our athletic contests will be greatly missed.

Under your leadership as superintendent, Ilion went through the reorganization of the school district after centralization, the tragic fire and two building programs. Your enthusiasm, intellect, good humor and personal warmth have always been admired by us.

This dedication is only a simple tribute, to be sure, but is given with respect and utmost sincerity. You—and your family—have been very much a part of our community and school life. May the years ahead bring you a great deal of success and happiness.

In Appreciation

Thank you, Mrs. Teeter, for taking on the job of advising our class during our hectic senior year. If it were not for your time consuming work on our Christmas ball, we doubt that it would have been a success. Whenever a problem arose we could always count on you to come up with a solution. When our class meetings were becoming dull you were always there to add a little humor. There was never a dull moment in any of your American History classes, and we know well there never will be as long as you are teaching. The Class of 1965 will always cherish you in our memories, and we hope that when you think of us you will think of all the good times we have had working with you.

The Class of 1965 wishes to say a sincere thank you to you, Mr. McElwain. You brought us through many a crisis with your keen insight into the problems students are confronted by. Everything we have worked on with you has been a success: the sophomore coatcheck, the Junior Prom, the two concession stands, and many others. Though you were willing to let us do almost anything we wanted, we are still thankful that you put your foot down at our class meetings; for we realize that large classes without order accomplish nothing. You have given us much of your time, and have done as much work, if not more, on our class projects as we have. Thank you, Mr. McElwain, for being so patient with us and for bringing us through our senior year with much success. We, the Class of 1965, will always cherish our memories of you and all you have done for us.

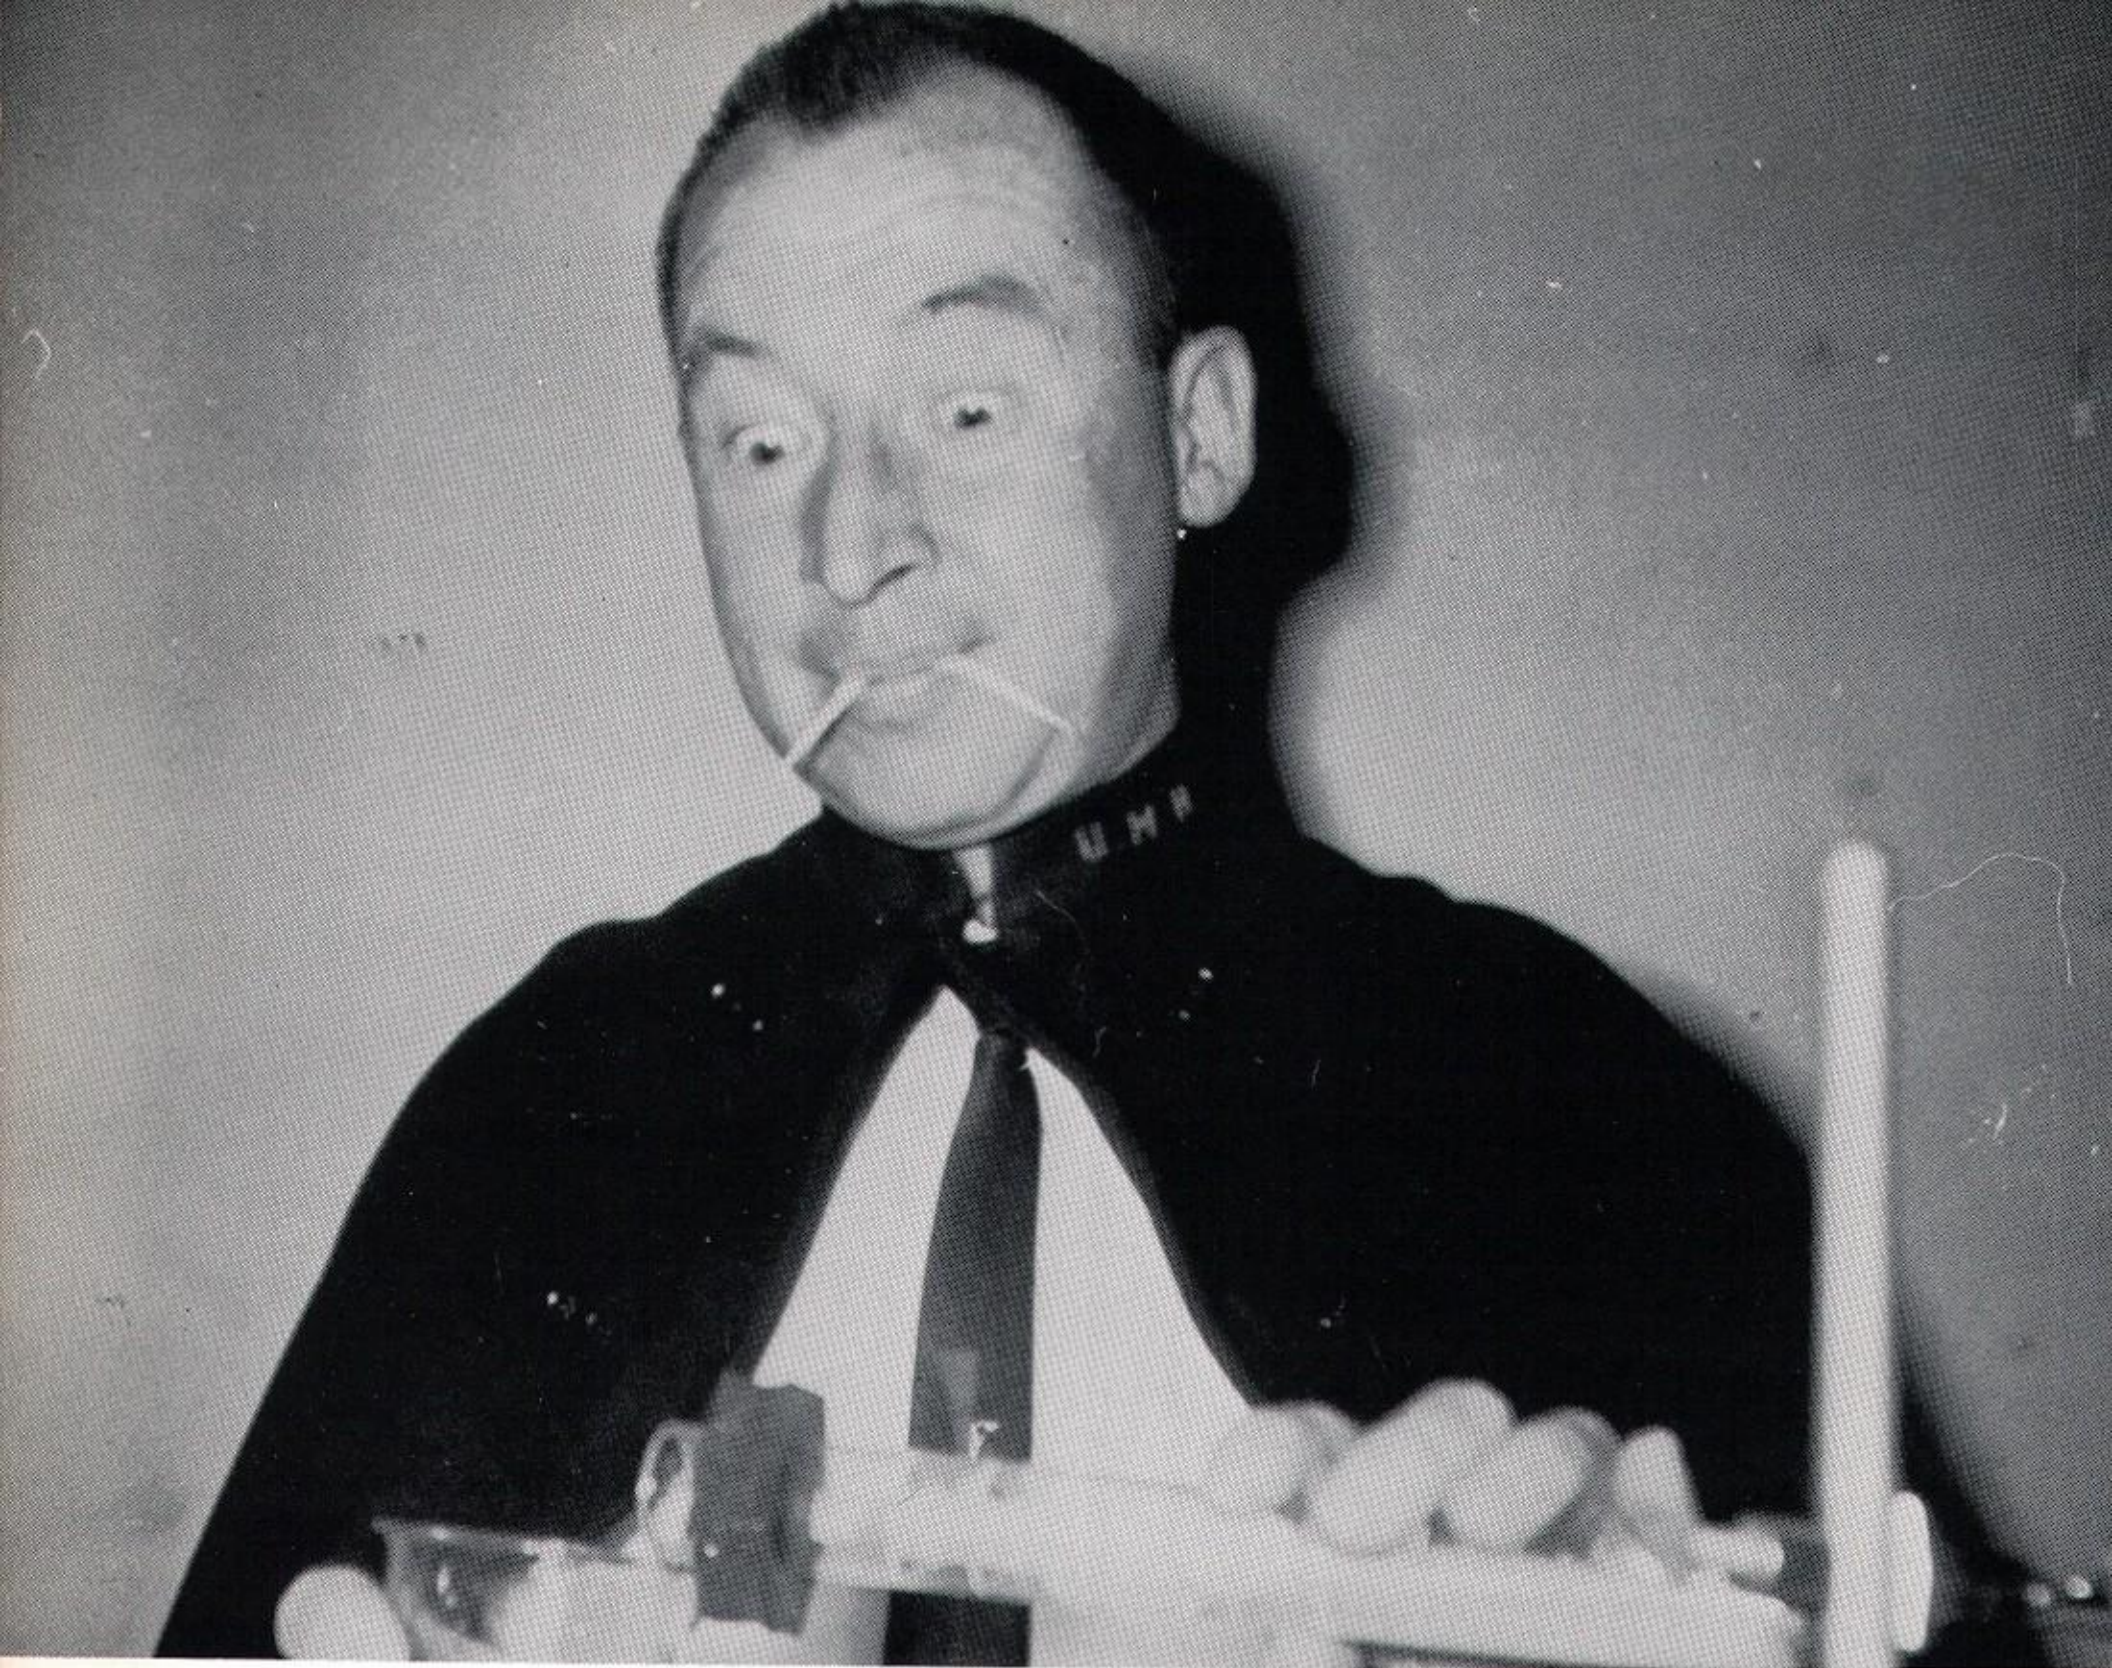

In Appreciation

You, Mr. Grieco, are largely responsible for making the 1965 MIRROR a reality. Without your many hours of hard work, your patience with our problems and mistakes, your welcome words of encouragement and your skillful guiding hand, this yearbook might not have been finished. Therefore, the class of 1965 would like to express very special thanks to your greatly needed assistance.

You, Mrs. Stafford, were with us for only our Sophomore and Junior years. Yet, you certainly helped to make those years, not only successful, but ones that we will remember always. Your hard work on the magazine sale added much to our treasury; and, your artistic abilities added much beauty to our Junior prom. We are privileged to have had you as our class advisor; and so, to you, we say a most sincere "thank you".

That day, that long awaited day of many mixed emotions, is nearly upon us. Our years within the sacred halls of I.H.S. are drawing to a close. We can now look eagerly, yet apprehensively, forward to what looms in the very near and equally mysterious future, keeping always in mind the very fond memories we have been fortunate enough to gather. Yes, the time has almost come.—But do we care??? Are you kidding? It's been a blast!

As ninth graders, we were probably no greener than any other Freshman class had been. We followed the naturally set pattern of imitating as often and as perfectly as possible the "big seniors", who, among other things, had actually created the word muh. We picked that up quickly and proceeded to use daily—even "minute"ly.

Again, it didn't take us long to merge as a single solid group. (Nothing ever took us long except Mrs. Derby's career folders, her million maps, and our extravagant art work for science 9 notebooks. Right, Mr. McElwain?) We remained a group long enough to elect Dan McGrellis, a newcomer at the time, as president of Junior High Senate. Also, through amazingly orderly and usually fixed homeroom elections, Charleen Schierholtz, Owen Roberts, Bob DeMartine, Pat Sherman, Larry Hubbell, and Mary Rapenske were chosen to represent us in Senate.

The next big project, for which we did not remain united, was class games. Our hard-fighting Freshman team, cheered on by blue-jean and white-sweatshirt-clad Sandy Jones, Judy Gray, Jana Danforth, Betty Seaman, Sandy Santmire, Pat Sherman, Mary Jean McGrath, Jane Lacy, and Diana Withington, lost to the luckier, due-for-a-win sophs. However, keeping in mind that winning is not important, we noisily made our way up Benedict Avenue to Bev Miller's where we proceeded to eat, drink, and laugh our "sorrows" away. We had a great time, but our faculty advisors couldn't take it and finally resorted to clanging a dinner bell to get us out.

One inevitable traumatic event which took place in late spring was cheerleading tryouts, which ended happily for Judy Gray and Jana Danforth, who were chosen as J.V. cheerleaders.

A fairly full schedule, which did not include a dance luckily, for every other class had one—eighth grade graduation, the Soph Hop, Junior Prom, Senior Ball—helped to pass the time quickly; and we soon found ourselves being pushed out by a new group of greenhorns. Whether we were experienced or not didn't matter. Now we knew there would always be someone less experienced—for three years anyhow.

So on to our second rugged year. Dan McGrellis, a leader again, was chosen as class president, assisted by Bill Miles, Sandy Santmire, and Dave Crocker. Diana Withington represented us in Student Council as its secretary, along with Bob Bluett, Sue Getman, Charleen Schierholtz, Bob Schneider, Nancy Walker, Lauranne Cox, Jo-

After being informed by our class advisors that one thousand dollars must be available for our graduation in four(?) years, we set immediately to work and came up with the idea of having a coat check. This wasn't a terribly original idea since every class before had done it. But, not every class sold kisses too. We reached our quota—plus.

In addition to learning that it is possible to make money on the Soph hop, many of us learned, learned, and re-learned the causes of war—Spanish, Mexican, Italian World—you name it, through a rough but unforgettable Miss Schwarz. We learned the names of scores of birds that lived on the telephone wire outside 204; and we learned that no one is perfect—not even Mr. Utter (affectionately referred to as "the General" by Miss Schwarz)—as was recorded in a poem by a daring (Soph, you know) young miss.

With all this learning it hardly seemed possible, but we did take a break for class games. This year green sweatshirts and white skirts, filled with Jane Lacy, Sandy Santmire, Barb Hoerner, Charleen Schierholtz, Mary Jean McGrath, Jana Danforth, Joanne Urtz, and Diana Withington, cheered the boys on, strangely enough, to victory. Mr. and Mrs. George Getman bravely opened their doors to us where we gorged ourselves with enough cake and pizza, to fill a ship and enough soda to float a navy.

When we returned to school after vacation and plodded one by one up the plaster laden and water logged stairs to get our belongings, if they hadn't been destroyed, we realized the seriousness of the disaster and the genuine need and results of not class but school unity.

It was good-bye now to "Aunt Barb" and "Uncle Bob" but we knew the eleventh grade teachers were eager to receive us and to be our new friends.

This year, Dan McGrellis returned to a "back seat" as Vice-President of Student Council. Diana Withington was elected to lead the class and was assisted by Bob Schneider, Linda Kroll, and Larry Hubbell. Also in Council as homeroom presidents, and class and club representatives, we had Greg Patrei, Mark Paul, Bill Cornell, Jean Keddell, Joanne Urtz, Bob Bluett, Bill Miles, Mary Jean McGrath, Linda Brown, Sandy Santmire, and Elaine Getman.

Our magazine sale, led by Bill Miles and Barb Wardle, was a big success; and Bridget Carney and her basketball concession committee added considerably to the class treasury.

Our marks went down (due to split sessions, don't you know) and so did we, from hearing again and again that colleges looked mostly at Junior grades. Many of us took the National Merit Scholarship Test and College Boards, which also didn't boost the ego.

But some people we will always remember for the encouragement they gave by simply being nearby.

Mrs. Teeter-clops, our American History I teacher, (a fact which we dismissed whenever possible) was a terrific "mother", friend, and personal advisor (at no extra cost!). If it weren't for her invaluable help and counseling during the spring, our Prom might never have been and neither would some parts of Bye-Bye Birdie, both of which we discussed thoroughly each morning for weeks.

It was also in her class where the idea of going to the New York World's Fair was born. That might someday be history and was given equal time.

Just in time to sell tickets for "An Evening with Shakespeare," Kathy Hoffman, Bill Cornell, Rick Albin, Linda Brown, Bill Miles, Bridget Carney, and Suzanne Backman were inducted into Senior National Honor Society.

cheerleaders, Judy Gray, Jean Keddell, Sandy Santmire, Joanne Urtz, Jane Lacy, Barb Hoerner, Sandy Jones, Linda Kroll, and Charleen Schierholtz, "buzzed" for a team dressed in costumes (except for Billy Newkirk, who was still a "weed") as flowers. We didn't expect to win since these games are engineered so that each class wins only every other year, but we sure had the cocky Seniors fooled for a while.

The Prom, "Through the Looking Glass," was a big s——, was lots of fun anyway with Kathy Hoffman and Greg Patrei as co-chairmen and Jane Lacy as decorations chairman. Our Junior year ended, none too soon, and to the amazement of our advisors, we emerged in the fall of '64 as a class of 182 Seniors.

Diana was re-elected president with Greg Partei, Joanne Urtz, and Mary Jean McGrath always ready to help.

Dan McGrellis was back in the driver's seat as Student Council President. Sue Getman was elected treasurer, and Bill Miles was appointed parliamentarian. Class rep-representatives (and homeroom presidents because we got gypped out of a Senior homeroom) were Linda Kroll, Bob Bluett, Judy Gray, Mary Paul, Terry Braren, and Bootsie Day. Club representatives were Kathy Hoffman, Linda Brown, Sandy Santmire, Suzanne Backman, Karen Custer, Elaine Getman, Bridget Carney, Jane Lacy, and Bill Cornell.

The year started out with a bang, many bangs, in fact, multiplied by the McKay Construction Company which was set with the task of rebuilding our ashed "old building."

Football concession got under way, with Bridget Carney and Paul Thomas pulling the ropes. How successful that was financially, we still have not been able to determine.

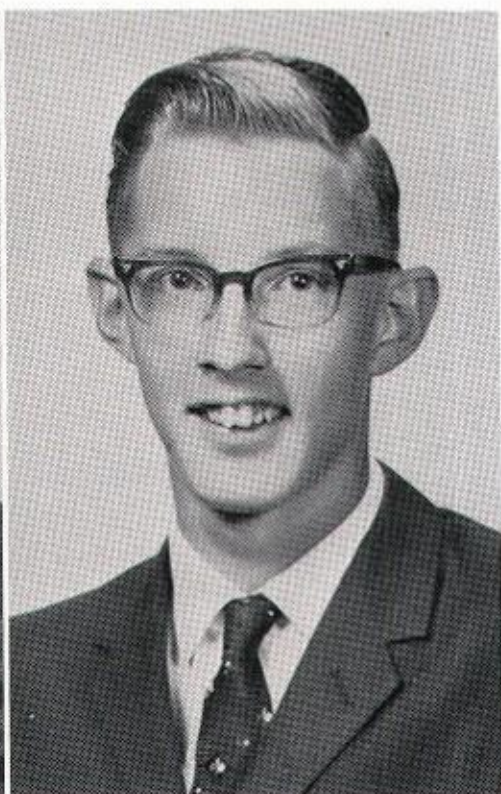

However, with a huge door to door campaign for Christmas cards, under the chiefs Eileen Strait and Harold Stone, coming up, we weren't worried. We should have been.

Hashim, Our Foreign Student

Our Student Council made it possible for Mohammed Hashim Mekkawi to be the fourth Foreign Exchange Student to attend Ilion High School.

Hashim, as he was known to us came from the major Saudi port, Jedda, where he worked at the city's ultra modern airport.

In Saudi Arabia were his father, mother, seven brothers and a cat.

At school this year Hashim contended with English Literature, American history, English composition, Speech, chemistry, algebra, and typing. He reported for the Quill in his bi-weekly "Mekkawi's Musings," where he told us much about life in Saudi Arabia and his impressions of America. Many of us soon learned to beware of Hashim's photographic abilities. He could often be seen running through the halls, camera in hand, snapping many pictures for the Quill and Mirror. Hashim was also a member of the Student Council and Phi Delta Epsilon Fraternity.

Besides photography, Hashim enjoyed American folk music, particularly Peter, Paul and Mary, and Ian and Sylvia. After the first few dances, Hashim began trying all the modern steps and soon became as "expert" as the rest of us.

From the first time many of us met him at Barb Wardle's open house last August, Hashim has been a most welcome addition to the Senior Class. We will always remember him for his ever-present and irresistible smile, his practical jokes and constant use of American slang.

Homecoming 1964

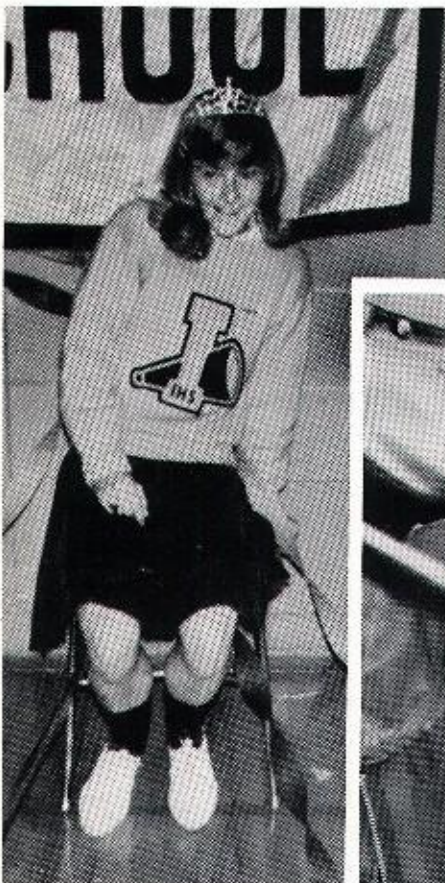

October 9, 1964

The Annual Homecoming Weekend, sponsored by Student Council (Joanne Urtz, chairman), began Friday morning with the crowning of the Queen and King. Sandy Jones and Bob Bluett were elected to reign over the weekend festivities: a parade from the center of town to the field, the game against Frankfort, and the Senior Class Homecoming Dance that Saturday night. Even though the sky was overcast and the day cold and bleak, the Bombers fought to the finish, losing only by 14 points.

Herkimer Game November 7, 1964

Ilion's football season came to a close when the Golden Bombers invaded Herkimer for the traditional game against the "pizza-pushers." After having presented a mock preview of the Ilion victory at the pep rally (as a warning for our Herkimer visitors) and burning the Herkimer dummy at the Friday night bonfire, Ilion downed Herkimer 6 to 0 Saturday afternoon.
